

Kristin Clark loves helping people create a career path that is just right for them. She has proven that teens can start making good decisions about their own careers and guides them on which education path will get them to their goal.

For anyone thinking, huh! I wonder if she can help me. The answer is yes, Kristin believes adults deserve a career that makes them happy too!

She and her husband Steve have two sons, Matt, a recent graduate of Oklahoma State University, Go Pokes. And Chris, a college graduate from the University of Alabama, Roll Tide. Both are enjoying their careers!

Please welcome Kristin Clark
